

The History of the House of York Built,

D. Corvino.

Ex Libris

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA
LOS ANGELES

The Olive Percival Collection of Children's Books

cr/

ca 1830-40 ?

THE

LIBRARY

OF

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

FRONTISPIECE.

THIS IS THE
H O U S E
THAT JACK BUILT.

THE HISTORY
OF THE
HOUSE
THAT
JACK BUILT.

Embellished with Coloured Engravings.

LONDON:

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY D. CARVALHO, 167, FLEET STREET.

315

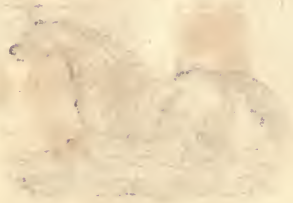

Y S O T E I R

and

H E U O E

THE

ANNUAL REPORT

—

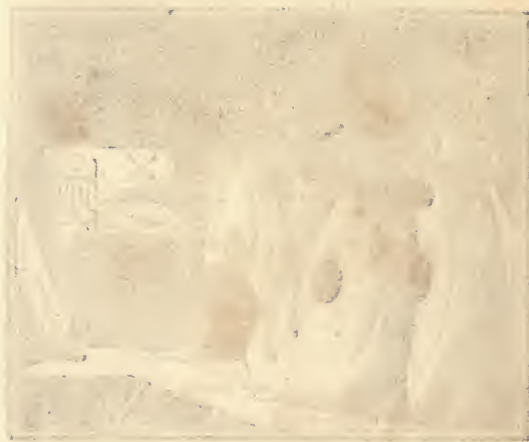

OF THE

—

1880

OF THE

OF THE

I have the most that in the house that
in the house that with built.

1050067

This is the malt that laid in the House that Jack built.

This is the rat that eat the malt that laid in the House that Jack built.

There is no other way than to go to the bottom of the well and see what is there.

This is the cat that killed the rat that eat the malt, that laid in the house that Jack built.

This is the dog that worried the cat, that killed the rat, that eat the malt, that laid in the house that Jack built.

This is the first time that I have ever written you, and I am sure that you will find it very interesting.

Yours
John

This is the cow with a crumpled horn, that tossed the dog, that worried the cat, that killed the rat, that eat the malt, that laid in the house that Jack built.

This is the maiden all forlorn, that milked the cow with a crumpled horn, that tossed the dog, that worried the cat, that killed the rat, that eat the malt, that laid in the house that Jack built.

There is no need to say that you are a man of all kinds of things and with a very good heart and a very good head
and a very good body
and a very good soul
and a very good heart
and a very good head
and a very good body
and a very good soul

This is the man all tattered and torn, that kissed the maiden all forlorn, that milked the cow with a crumpled horn, that tossed the dog, that worried the cat, that killed the rat, that eat the malt, that laid in the house that Jack built.

This is the priest all shaven and shorn, that married the man all tattered and torn, that kissed the maiden all forlorn, that milked the cow with a crumpled horn, that tossed the dog, that worried the cat, that killed the rat, that eat the malt, that laid in the house that Jack built.

And the great all-seeing God Who has created the world and all things that live in it, has made us in his own image and likeness, and has given us reason and understanding, that we might know him and love him, and keep his commandments, and be happy in his love forever.
Amen.

This is the first of the series of illustrations which are intended to show the various forms of the rooster, and the different ways in which they are used.
The first of the series is the rooster, which is the most common of all the fowls.
It is the only one which is used for the purpose of providing food for man.
The second of the series is the hen, which is the most common of all the fowls.
It is the only one which is
used for the purpose of providing food for man.
The third of the series is the pullet, which is the most common of all the fowls.
It is the only one which is
used for the purpose of providing food for man.
The fourth of the series is the cock, which is the most common of all the fowls.
It is the only one which is
used for the purpose of providing food for man.

This is the cock that crowed in the morn, that waked the priest all shaven and shorn, that married the man all tattered and torn, that kissed the maiden all forlorn, that milked the cow with a crumpled horn, that tossed the dog, that worried the cat, that killed the rat, that eat the malt, that laid in the house that Jack built.

This is the fox, at the sound of the horn, that disturbed the cock that crowed in the morn, that waked the priest all shaven and shorn, that married the man all
tattered and torn, that kissed the maiden all forlorn, that milked the
cow with a crumpled horn, that
tossed the dog, that worried the
cat, that killed the rat, that eat
the malt, that laid in the house that Jack built.

The first of the great rivers of the world is the Nile, which flows from the south to the north, and is the longest river in the world. It is the source of the great delta
of Egypt, and is the life of the country. It is the source of the great delta
of Egypt, and
is the life of the country.

